PREFACE—SECOND EDITION.

The first edition of the White Book of the Dodecanese being now completely exhausted we have decided to publish a second edition. To this we prefix a map of the Twelve Islands to assist the reader. Sixteen new documents have been added at the end of the book.

The Representatives of the Dodecanese,

Dr. Skevos Zervos,

Pâris J. Roussos.

PREFACE—FIRST EDITION.

After the fall of Constantinople — our capital — the Dodecanese, tiny and impotent as they were, seeing their elder sisters, heroic Crete, Samos, Chios, Mitylene, succumb the one after the other, could not resist any longer and were forced to submit to the Turks in 1522, under whose yoke they remained up to the 22nd of April, 1912. During all those centuries of constant persecution, repeated massacres and unceasing martyrdom, they kept intact their national consciousness, their Greek usages and customs, language, and religion. One after the other, the islands of the Dodecanese succeeded in gradually getting rid of the heavy and terrible Turkish yoke; they participated in the great Greek Revolution of 1821 and on the establishment of a free Greek Kingdom, would have been included in the latter, had it not been for the fact that the islands nearest to Greece were chosen instead. But the Dodecanese were allowed full autonomy, paying very small taxes to Turkey — Patmos only one pound annually — and they were granted special consular offices even in Constantinople up to April 22nd, 1912, when the Dodecanese came under the temporary occupation of Italy, which thus compelled Turkey to yield in the matter of Tripoli.

During the Greco-Turkish war which broke out soon after, all these large islands surrounding the Dodecanese were liberated in the space of a few hours by the Greek Fleet; but the Italian occupation proved an obstacle to our liberation, and the granting of our freedom was postponed till after the conclusion of the present great war.

We would like to enlighten public opinion in this country about the Dodecanese, our country, by publishing these official documents. The latter show clearly our national aspirations and feelings after the Italian occupation and before the world war. We also publish those documents which, exchanged in the most critical moments of the war, when the Germans were nearly facing

Paris, prove that we, the Dodecanesians, not only were not in the least overawed by the various vicissitudes of the great contest, but have from the first, repeatedly expressed to the Entente and to America our lively sympathies, and persistently asked of them, by writing, verbally and by telegram, that we may be allowed the privilege and the honour of fighting by their side and of dying for the sake of the deliverance of the peoples and for civilization.

NATIONAL ASPIRATIONS OF
THE DODECANESIANS

I.

PLEBISCITES OF THE DODECANESIANS
IN FAVOUR OF THEIR UNION
WITH GREECE

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF NISYROS.

The inhabitants of the island of Nisyros seeing that, against all expectation, their permanent desires are not realised, owing principally to the action of the Italian Government and in spite of all the formal promises made by the latter, through their official organs, that never would the islands be restored to the Turkish yoke, held a mass meeting to-day, the 17/30th of December, 1912, and unanimously resolved and decided the following :

1.- We protest against the intentions of the Italian Government concerning the handing over to the Turkish yoke of the twelve islands.

2.- We protest with all our strength against the suggestion in certain Italian papers, that the islanders would rather remain under Italy or be autonomous, than unite with Greece.

3.- We proclaim again that our unique wish and permanent desire is union with Greece, our Mother Country. This solution alone can ensure peace and tranquillity in the islands, because the islanders have often manifested their sentiments for union with Greece and even cooperated, as soldiers with the Greek Army, in the War against Turkey.

4.- We hold the European Powers responsible for the painful consequences should our desires remain unrealised.

5.- That the present resolution should be sent to their Excellencies Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary and President of the London Conference of the Ambassadors of the Great Powers, to Mr. Eleftherios Venizelos, Prime Minister of Greece, to Mr. Giolitti, Prime Minister of Italy and to the Consul of the Greek Government in Rhodes. PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF COS.

All the people of the capital and of the island of Cos having come together on the 20th of December 1912, and in view of the London Conference of the Ambassadors of the Great Powers, on the one hand, and the Peace Conference of the Balkan States on the other, both of which will seal the fate of the islands of the Aegean Sea, including this island of ours, temporarily occupied by Italy, have unanimously decided the following.

1.- They repudiate any suggestion of going back under the Turkish rule which they loathe and consider as the greatest of misfortunes.

2.- They again express their unalterable and centuries-old aspirations to unite with Greece their motherland, and form an indivisible part of the kingdom of Greece.

3.- They declare that if their appeal is not heard, they will rise, at all costs, against the return of Turkish sovereignty—under any form whatsoever, — even that of autonomy.

4.- They solicit the undivided help of your Excellency for our union with Greece our motherland. For five centuries we have cherished these aspirations which, generation after generation, the inhabitants of Cos have preserved undiminished and have proclaimed repeatedly before God and man. To-day they are asking the international recognition and ratification of their national establishment.

Cos, December 20th, 1912.

[Follow the signatures of the inhabitants of the city and the villages of Asfendu, Pylu, Antimachia, Gardameni, Kefalou, with the signatures and the seals of their respective councils].

The Mayor of Cos,
M. PARTHENIADIS.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF CASSOS.

The people of the Island of Cassos being unable to refrain any longer from manifesting their national aspirations, which they have been cherishing from time immemorial, have voted the following resolutions.

1.- They proclaim their longed-for union with Greece their motherland.

2.- They convey the present resolution concerning union, by means of their representatives to the London Conference of the Ambassadors of the Great Powers, to the Peace Representatives of the Balkan States in London, and to the Greek Foreign Office ; and

3.- They warmly beseech Their Excellencies to approve and further their just and time-honoured aspirations. They express their heart-felt gratitude for the benevolent protection of their just aspirations which they are sure they will secure.

In Cassos, on the 29th of December, 1912.

The Representatives,

M. G. Minacoulis, G. Em. Sakellis, K. Sakellis, N. Papadopoulos.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF PATMOS.

The whole civilized world knows the pitiable state of all the lands over which Turkey rules. Our island is no exception to this, and we its inhabitants have often before unanimously manifested our desire for union with Greece our mother country, as being the only remedy for this situation.

To-day, when again by God's consent an end is going to be put to this state of affairs, in the Capital of Great Britain, a new era of enlightened and civilised government will dawn for us as our fortunes also are being discussed in the London Conference by the ambassadors of the Great Powers. We have the honour of hopefully submitting to you our unalterable and unique desire, which we manifested in many ways, to achieve the union of our island with the MOTHER LAND, to which we are united by bonds of blood, religion, and language, and which no influence — not even the all-conquering time — can relax. We remain with profound respect.

In Patmos, December 30th, 1912.

On behalf of the people of Patmos, whom we have the honour to represent,

The Town Councillors,

Theodore Gazis, Emm. Magoulas, George Cocakis, G. Criticos, D. B. Stamoulis, Dem. Kalaizis.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF RHODES.

We, the undersigned inhabitants of the capital and of all the villages of the island of Rhodes, referring to our previous petition dated December 22nd, 1912, sent by the Town Council upon our order to the London Conference of the Ambassadors of the Great Powers, which met to discuss the question of the islands of the Aegean and where our fate will be sealed, resolve the following:

1.- We strongly protest against the intentions of the Government of the liberal Italian Nation, who, according to what has been published in the Italian Press, are still contemplating to give back our islands, under some form or other, to Turkey whose memory alone fills us with terror.

2.- We express our deepest regret, and we protest against a portion of the Italian Press which, owing to interested motives, misrepresents our real political views and pretends that we prefer Italian or any other foreign sovereignty or even autonomy under any form, to Union with Greece our Motherland.

3.- We proclaim our Hellenic sentiments, manifested always through our participation as soldiers in the wars of liberation waged by Greece, our Motherland, against Turkey, through public contribution, by hoisting the Greek flag throughout the island, and by all other means.

4.- We proclaim and reiterate our immutable decision to unite with Greece at all costs. This union is our unique natural and permanent desire. We repudiate every other solution.

5.- We declare that our union with Greece is the only solution which will ensure to us lasting peace, tranquillity, well-being and progress.

6.- We solicit from the liberal representatives of the Great Powers their kindly support and sympathy. We request of them, to restore peace upon our island through our union with Greece, in compliance with the principle of nationalities and the spirit of Western civilization.

7.- We entrust the Town Council of the Capital with the handing over of a copy of our present plebiscite to :

- a. His Excellency Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary,
 - b. His Excellency Mr. Giolitti, Prime Minister of Italy,
- and
- c. His Excellency Mr. El. Venizelos, Prime Minister of Greece, and we solicit their kindly support.

The present plebiscite was held and signed in Rhodes on the 21st of December, 1912.

The Town Councillors,

J. S. Papadopoulos, N. Georgiades, D. Anastasiades, S. Pavlidis, Th. Frarakis, S. Paraskevas.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF LEROS.

The inhabitants of the Island of Leros, having all assembled to-day, Sunday, December 30th, 1912, at 10 o'clock, in the Holy Church of Evangelistria, and having taken into consideration the fact that the fate of the islands of the archipelago is being discussed at the London Conference of the Ambassadors, and that, in the circumstances, the people of the islands are entitled to have their say about their future, decide upon the following resolution, convinced of the righteousness and magnanimous feelings of the great European powers and of the Allied Balkan States.

1.- They proclaim their age-long aspirations about union with the mother country Greece, because they believe it to be the only just solution of the problem, inasmuch as the inhabitants of the islands are purely Greek, the more so as nowhere else in the Ottoman Empire is this true to the same extent. Consequently such a solution provides a real national settlement for the inhabitants; a settlement which is so much supported and desired by civilized Europe.

2.- They declare that they will consider quite unjust every other solution of the problem, which as such they will repudiate; because UNION is the only means left which will really insure the well-being of the inhabitants, and will also preserve peace in the future, and avoid complications which may arise very shortly, creating new difficulties.

3.- They respectfully solicit from the Great Powers and the Allied Balkan States a favourable reception, and their support for the realisation of their highest aspirations, warmly cherished for centuries.

An official copy of the present resolution is to be sent

- a. To the London Conference of the Ambassadors of the Great Powers.
- b. To the London Peace Conference of the Balkan States, and
- c. To the Greek Foreign Office.

4.- The Mayor, Mr. Nicholas Scopelitis, is entrusted with the transmission of the present.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF TILOS.

To the British Foreign Office, LONDON.

Your Excellency,

The inhabitants of the island of Tilos, all of them Greeks,

Taking into consideration that the fate of the Dodecanese is being discussed by the London Conference of the Ambassadors of the Great Powers, and that the temporary Italian occupation of the said islands has unfortunately prevented them from being also incorporated into Greece, their Mother Country,

In a plenary sitting resolved unanimously the following :

1.- We repeat our constant desire that our island should be united with Greece, and we abide by this wish of ours, which constitutes our permanent desire. Considering the situation created by the Balkan wars we think that this is the only proper and just solution.

2.- We appeal to the feeling of justice of your Excellency and request you to kindly approve of our desire, which constitutes the only solution capable of insuring a lasting peace.

3.- We express to the Conference our eternal gratitude.

We request your Excellency kindly to support the realisation of our aspirations according to this plebiscite.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF SYMI.

At the moment when discussions are being carried on at the London Conference of their Excellencies the Ambassadors of the Great Powers on the question of the islands of the Aegean and concerning their future fate, as well as the fate of those which, owing to the Italian occupation, have not come within the range of the activity of the Greek fleet,

The inhabitants of the island of Symi, all of them purely Greek, in a plenary sitting have resolved unanimously the following:

1.- We strongly protest against the unexpected attitude of Italy and her design to restore again the islands to Turkish sovereignty.

2.- We protest with all our strength against the attitude of a portion of the Italian Press which wrongly insists that the islanders would prefer an autonomous arrangement, or the Italian occupation, to union with the kingdom of Greece. On the contrary we, the islanders, have repeatedly manifested our desire of union with Greece, in spite of all the pressure brought to bear upon us by the Italian authorities with a view to preventing all such manifestations. When the war broke out the islanders enlisted in the Greek army and are shedding their blood on the battlefields.

3.- We proclaim again our permanent and immutable determination to unite with Greece our Motherland. We will abide by this resolve, come what may, because it constitutes our immemorial desire and because we consider it the only possible and just solution which would correspond to the situation created by the Balkan war.

4.- We repudiate every other solution and appeal to the feelings of righteousness of the London Conference of their Excellencies the Ambassadors of the Great Powers, requesting them kindly to adopt this wish of the people as the only means of ensuring peace and tranquillity in the islands.

5.- We submit to them our deepest gratitude.

6.- We request the Mayor of Symi to transmit the present to :

- a. The London Conference of Their Excellencies the Ambassadors of the Great Powers.
- b. The Peace Conference of the Balkan States in London.
- c. His Excellency Sir Edward Grey, British Foreign Secretary.
- d. His Excellency Mr. Eleftherios Venizelos, Prime Minister of Greece.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF ASTYPALEA.

The people of the island of Astypalea, unable to refrain from manifesting their national aspirations, which they have cherished for centuries, have to-day assembled in a mass meeting and decided the following :

1.- They declare their earnest and immemorial desire for the UNION OF THEIR ISLAND WITH GREECE THEIR MOTHERLAND.

2.- They consider this solution as the only possible one, as it corresponds with the time-honoured dreams of the inhabitants of the island who will find satisfaction only by the side of Greece, and repudiate every other solution.

3.- They resolve to send copies of the present to the London Conference of the Ambassadors of the Great Powers and to the Government of GREECE our MOTHERLAND, in order that the latter may do all she can for the realization of the just aspirations of her truest sons.

4.- They address a hearty appeal to Their Excellencies requesting them to approve of, and further, their centuries-old and just aspirations, and they express their deep gratitude for every support of their just cause, which they hope will be realized.

Made in Astypalea on the 20th of January, 1913.

[The signatures of the inhabitants follow.]

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF HALKI.

The inhabitants of the island of Halki have spontaneously met on the 3rd of February, and held a mass meeting in the premises of the church of St. Nicholas and adopted the following resolutions :

1.- We lodge a protest with the Great Powers against all activities tending to prevent our union with Greece, our Motherland, and we solicit the protection of divine and human justice.

2.- Nothing will keep us from laying on the altar of our country our all, and from striving to secure union with Greece, closely following the footsteps of our ancestors.

3.- We will oppose the ruins of our island to any violence made to our national aspirations so that we may be justified before God and History.

4.- As one man we will all rise under the protection of the Cross and the Greek flag to live free or to die.

By order of the people.

The Mayors.

A. Diamantis.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF CARPATHOS.

The representatives of the Community of Carpathos having met this Sunday, February 3rd, by order of the people, in a peaceful mass meeting, have unanimously decided the following :

We are ready to sacrifice everything that we may fall into the arms of our Great Mother, and thus remain united for ever. We emphasize for the last time to our mighty protectors that we have only one wish and one aspiration ; and that our thoughts are concentrated on one point : UNION WITH GREECE — OUR GREAT MOTHER, and we do not mean to resign to any other fate, so that history may not have to record twenty other Cretes, as it will not be possible to impose even on their ruins the reign of power. His Holiness our Bishop Germanos is requested to convey copies of the present to Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, and to the London Conference of the Ambassadors ; as also to Mr. Venizelos, the Greek Premier, and to all others to whom it may be applicable.

In Carpathos, February 3rd, 1913.

By order of the representatives,

The Bishop of Carpathos -- Cassos, Germanos.

PLEBISCITE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE ISLAND OF CALYMNOS.

The people of the Island of Calymnos, seeing that the London Conference has come to naught, and that the struggle of the Allies against Turkish disgrace has been resumed, are in great anxiety because — owing to the temporary Italian occupation of their island — they cannot participate in the struggle in this island, held a mass meeting this Sunday, February 3rd, 1913, in the premises of the Holy Church of Christ, and have decided the following :

1.- They proclaim the union of their most Greek island with the motherland Greece.

2.- They declare their unswerving decision that they will not accept any other settlement of the fate of the island. They are ready in the contrary case to follow the brilliant example of their sister island Crete.

3.- They solicit the favour of all the great Powers for the realization of their national establishment.

[Follow the signatures of the people.]

Your Highness,

The League of the Dodecanesians have the honour respectfully to request you to kindly accept their humble homage and allow them to wish you a hearty welcome.

Your Highness,

Now that Greece, our Mother Country, is mobilising in order to fight by the side of her heroic Allies, her Great Friends and Protectors, we, the inhabitants of the Dodecanese, Greeks for thousands of years, would consider it the greatest of honours if we also were allowed to fight, under the Hellenic banner, for the liberation of peoples and for civilisation.

Your Highness,

What military value these twelve islands may acquire when, liberated from the Italians, they are mobilised by the Dodecanesians themselves; what services these Dodecanesians may render to the great struggle of the Allies by mobilising all their forces and the dynamiters of the islands for the chasing of the submarines and attacking their bases on the coast of Asia Minor ; and, finally, what other signal services the Dodecanesians may render to the Allies if they ever decide to undertake operations against Smyrna and Asia Minor, all these we shall be able to develop by word of mouth to Your Highness, as soon as You will be good enough to fix the hour and the day when we may have the high privilege to present ourselves to Your Highness and to hand to Him the resolution of the Dodecanesians.

We beg Your Highness to accept our most respectful homage.

Your Excellency,

The League of the Dodecanesians, knowing your love of justice, your superior culture, and your patriotism, have the honour to request you earnestly that on your approaching return to Italy, our great friend and ally, you will loudly proclaim to the Italian people the claims of the Twelve Islands to national establishment. The Twelve Islands have been genuinely Greek for many thousands of years without interruption.

The Dodecanese, Your Excellency, are in immediate and absolute need of three things. They urgently need food at once, as they are suffering already from a terrible lack of necessaries, being in danger of immediate death from starvation. The Dodecanese need at once direct communication with the world at large; and also the free and unmolested return of their sons. Finally, the Dodecanese are in need of their national restoration—full, complete, and universal.

We, the Dodecanesians, will be always grateful to you if, by your mediation, our Twelve Islands are delivered from the occupation of Italy, who is fighting for the Freedom of Nations and the Right of Nationalities; of Italy whose own unredeemed children are anxiously awaiting deliverance, and who therefore knows what serfdom means.

Your Excellency, all our activity in favour of the liberation of the Dodecanese is coincident with the real and great interests of Italy. When the Dodecanese are freed and join Greece, our Motherland, you may be sure that we will at once give our lives with the greatest self-sacrifice at those points where are being sealed the fate of freedom and civilization and we will ever be grateful to you.

We remain,
Yours respectfully,

President
Dr. Skevos Zervos.
Treasurer
Pâris Roussos.
Secretary

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE LEAGUE OF
THE DODECANESIANS.
ATHENS.

The inhabitants of the islands occupied by Italy follow with great enthusiasm your efforts at securing the realization of their centuries-old aspirations. They heartily commune with you over the seas, in order to strengthen your voice and add new ardour to your entreaties to the powerful ones of this earth. The Greeks in these islands should certainly manifest their cooperation with you in a more tangible way, and the measure of their assistance should not be less than that of their rights. They should herald their rights throughout the civilized world, which is to-day fighting for the cause of justice and nationalities, and declare their one eternal and immutable desire of union with Greece their motherland. They should even according to their national traditions, demand that this union be immediately realized and not postponed to the end of the war, when it might be given as a gift, because the Greek is not used to such gifts. He likes to grow the tree of freedom first on his own blood. Let the Bulgarians and other impotent nations receive such gifts. We demand union from now, so that we may enlist forthwith and fight the common foes of civilization and justice.

All these sacred feelings should be loudly proclaimed from the Twelve Islands, because they vibrate in the hearts of us all.

Our enthusiasm and emotions swell like an ocean since Greece, our Motherland, under the trusted and masterful guidance of her Great Chief has taken her true and proper place by the side of the great friends and protectors of justice in general, and of Greece in particular. We all address one and only one prayer to the God of Greece, namely, that the day may dawn when our blood, our wealth, our tears, sorrows and pleasures will be mingled with those of our brothers on the field of honour, for the sake of our sweet country and noble race.

Nevertheless, all this ocean of noble feelings which fills us to overflowing during these historic moments lies hidden. The reasons for this are known to you. This is not the proper moment for us to expose them to you. But in order that it may not be supposed by anybody, or rather argued by those interested, that the people of the Dodecanese are pleased with their present state, we proclaim and beg that you should make it known throughout the civilized world, that only the naked bayonet, glittering above our heads, restrains us from giving a free vent to our overflowing complaints, because we are not enjoying a XXth century government, but the methods of the XVth century or of a yet darker age are being applied on our islands.

However, you, who enjoy freedom of speech and of writing, are invested with full powers from us all to work for our unique ideal, the Union of our Country, the Dodecanese, with Greece our Motherland. Make such use of the present document as will seem to you called for.

We regret that the situation does not permit us to provide you with plebiscites. But you have those issued four years ago. We all abide by them to death.

I have the honour to forward to you herewith the plebiscite drawn up at the mass meeting held yesterday by the Dodecanesian refugees, numbering over 2,000 and residing in the island, and by the representatives of the Dodecanesian refugees resident in the surrounding islands of Paros, Amorgos and Mykonos. This plebiscite was handed over to me by a committee of Dodecanesians, appointed at the meeting. As is mentioned in the enclosed plebiscite, they demand union with Greece, the Mother Country, and enjoin you, convinced as they are of your patriotism, to communicate it to the Greek Government and to the Representatives of the Allied Governments.

RESOLUTION.

Of the Dodecanesians, especially of those from Calymnos, who are now refugees living in Naxos, Paros, Amorgos and Mykonos, because of the oppression and the privations which we are enduring in our native land on the part of the Italian provisional Government.

The Dodecanesians who are temporarily residing in Naxos, and especially those from Calymnos along with the representatives of all the Dodecanesian refugees from the islands of Paros, Amorgos, and Mykonos, having in view

1.- The approaching European Conference which will decide the fate of the oppressed peoples on the principles of Nationalities and the free will of Nations,

2.- The official declarations and messages of His Excellency, the President of the Great American Democracy, Mr. Wilson,

3.- That even during centuries of Turkish Sovereignty of dismal memory, we kept intact in our souls and in our minds, our genuinely Greek nationality, having never ceased to look forward to our longed-for union with, and administration by, Greece, our Motherland, in whose schools we have been brought up and reared with Her culture, glory and history,

4.- That we speak the very same language, that we profess the same religion, that we are of the same origin and have the same history with our free Greek brothers,

5.- That only Greeks have been living in our islands for several centuries,

6.- That we are genuine descendants of the old Ionian race of ancient Greece,

7.- That from the day when, the Italian Government, in a sheer spirit of conquest and regardless of every human and divine law, violently occupied our islands, we endure the heaviest of yokes, being relentlessly oppressed and finding ourselves before the distressing alternative of disowning our Nationality or being expatriated, experiencing countless privations, humiliations and tortures,

8.- That the violent oppressions and the illegal persecutions which the Italian provisional Government perpetrates against us, have temporarily forced us to abandon our homes, until the day of our national restoration,

We have gathered together in a mass meeting comprising 2,000 persons, in the town of Naxos, this Wednesday, October the 17th, 1918, in the presence of the representatives of the Dodecanesian refugees residing for the present in Paros, Amorgos, and Mykonos, and adopted the following resolution :

a. We have only one sweet country, our beloved Greece.

b. We proclaim with all the strength of our mind and our soul, that Union with Greece, our Motherland, is the only national restoration conceivable, the only solution we ardently desire, because of our community of descent, language, history and religion.

c. We denounce the provisional Italian administration, in as much as it is more oppressive and harsh than even the Turkish rule, and because there is no bond of union between us.

d. We all offer wholeheartedly to fight and to shed our blood and to make every possible contribution in favour of our beloved Greece, her Great Allies, Friends and Protectors, and our much longed-for national restoration.

e. We enjoin the President of the League of the Dodecanesians to communicate the present to the Greek Government, to Their Excellencies, the Ambassadors of the Great American Republic, of the Mighty British Empire, the Ruler of the seas, and of Immortal France. We appoint a Committee of seven members to sign the present resolution and, through the mediation of the Harbour Master of the island of Naxos, to forward it to Dr. Skevos Zervos, President of the League of the Dodecanesians, in Athens, for further use.

SECOND EDITION

THE LEAGUE OF THE DODECANESIANS.

To His Excellency, Mr. ELEFTHERIOS VENIZELOS,

Prime Minister of Greece.

En Ville.

Your Excellency,

The League of the Dodecanesians, knowing that their motherland, Greece, entered the war of Nations in order that she, with her great Allies might support the rights of peoples and the liberties of the world and free all her oppressed children, takes the liberty of drawing your serious attention to the present condition of the Dodecanese, not from a political, but merely from a humanitarian point of view.

Your Excellency, the grave conditions which for some time past have prevailed in the Dodecanese have lately become intolerable. To keep body and soul together is a problem. Deaths from starvation occur in the open streets and market places: not only men, but pregnant women have been driven to suicide — a thing hitherto unknown during the three thousand years of the history of the islands. Despair, caused by the oppression and persecution of the local Italian Authorities, has led to a veritable exodus from the Dodecanese, the people taking refuge in the surrounding islands, Pagos, Naxos, Amorgos, Mykonos, Crete, and even at Salonica, Piraens, Athens and its suburbs. Such an exodus, if continued, will result in the complete depopulation of the Dodecanese. Calymnos for example, with a population of 26,000 inhabitants when the Italians first landed in the Dodecanese, had only 44,000 when a census was taken six months ago, and when about ten days ago a fresh census was taken in connection with the distribution of ration books, it was found that only 8,342 inhabitants remained in that island. Leros, which at the commencement of the provisional occupation by the Italians, numbered 8,000 inhabitants, has now only about 2,500. The island of Symi with a population of 23,000 at the time of the Italian landing, possesses now no more than 6,500 inhabitants.

The same has happened in the other twelve islands; this wholesale exodus of the inhabitants is due mainly to two causes :

1. The appalling famine which is cruelly afflicting the Dodecanese, owing to the necessities of life being kept back by the Italians, and

2. The systematic persecution of the islanders by the local Italian Authorities, their brutal conduct, their humiliation of the Church, their desecration of family lies, and the strict orders of the Italian Government which prevent the return of the inhabitants of the Dodecanese to their homes.

THE FAMINE.

For months past the famine in the Dodecanese has been so acute that not only many people daily perish (especially in the largest islands) from utter exhaustion and lowered vitality, but even women commit suicide. The refugees who are compelled by hunger to leave the islands arrive here so exhausted and emaciated that they appear more like shadows than living beings. Some are so starved that they have become mere skeletons; they suffer from swollen extremities; the lobes of their ears are transparent; they are unable to walk and even when standing suffer from vertigo, palpitation, faintness and exhaustion. The terrible food shortage in the Dodecanese is such that even pregnant women have committed suicide e. g. Maria Lazari who drowned herself in the harbour of Calymnos and in whose mouth was found a piece of onion, her only sustenance.

It is a well-known fact that for four whole months the inhabitants of the Dodecanese did not even see a drop of olive oil; that the only nourishment supplied to them was 15 grammes of bread per diem and that they had no beans, peas, or other animal or vegetable food during the whole of that period. It is an attested fact that they were not, and are still not allowed to sail out of their ports after 4 p.m. for the purpose of fishing.

It is also well-known that the coast of Asia-Minor opposite to the islands is closed against them and that the sending of food to them from Greece is absolutely forbidden, as your Excellency is well aware. All this gives but a faint idea of the terrible conditions existing in the Dodecanese.

The Italian authorities not only failed to send to the Dodecanese the food which they had received from the Allied markets solely for the use of these islands, but took no steps whatsoever to import food from outside. They were only interested in the feeding of their military and civil employees; they used famine as a terrible and inhuman means for effecting the wholesale extermination of the inhabitants of the Dodecanese. Even the small supplies of food and the domestic animals of the people were commandeered by the Government and used solely for its own men, the natives being thus deprived even of their small reserves, always very limited in quantity because of the stony soil of the islands. The condition of the Dodecanese is critical and desperate. Anyone visiting the islands is brought face to face with an appalling spectacle of sufferings. The inhabitants are confronted with the frightful alternative of either dying from famine in their houses, close to the graves of their children and parents, or abandoning what is, next to God, dearest to them — their country. The League of the Dodecanesians would be grateful to Your Excellency, if you would have the kindness to bring these facts to the notice of the Allies, if you would ask them to enquire into them and verify them with their own eyes. The state of famine in the Dodecanese is the result of the criminal neglect of the tyrannical Italian Government to provision them.

It is well known, Your Excellency, that the Twelve Islands are rocky and barren, that they were to a very great extent supplied from that part of Asia-Minor situated opposite to them and from the ports of liberated Greece, whence the necessary foodstuffs were brought by sea transport, and that when, after the entry of Turkey into the war, the coasts of Asia-Minor were closed, the motherland, Greece, undertook the whole feeding of the Dodecanese, a service which she carried out with splendid efficiency. In this way, during the first year of the war, when the Dodecanese was supplied with food from Greece, there were always full stocks. No sooner, however, had Italy claimed and obtained from the Allies the right to receive and distribute the food allotted by the Allies to these islands, than their condition suffered a change for the worse. In the first months owing to the existence of small reserves in the islands, the matter did not appear serious, but as time went on and the supplies were either exhausted or were commandeered by the Italians for the use of their own people, without any attempt to replace them, the conditions became more serious month by month.

For many months nothing was sent to the Dodecanese by the Italians, not even a single ship-load of grain, nor would they allow us here, or the Dodecanesians residing in Egypt or in America to send the necessary food supplies for our relatives and compatriots in the islands; they would not even allow money to be sent; all this in order that the misery might be increased and the inhabitants of the islands be compelled to emigrate from their homeland.

The League of the Dodecanesians respectfully but earnestly begs your Excellency for the sake of common humanity to take immediate steps to supply the Dodecanese with the indispensable necessities and foodstuffs, it being of course understood that the cost of these supplies will be defrayed by the Dodecanese. We also entreat you to take steps that we may be immediately allowed to send, without any restriction, from here or elsewhere all such food as we are able, so that we may come to the assistance of our islands now threatened with the direst calamity.

We do not now ask the Allies to satisfy our national aspirations as we do not wish at this critical juncture to divert their attention from the war to which all their efforts must be directed in order to defeat the dreaded enemy. For the liberation of the Dodecanese and its union with our motherland, Greece, we shall apply after the war has ended, to the universal Supreme Court of Appeal, that is to say to the Peace Conference which will then be called together. But we ask in the name of justice and humanity for the means of feeding and supporting the Dodecanese. We ask, in the name of liberty, that the inhabitants of the Dodecanese may be free to return to their country. These people have committed no crime. They are yearning to return to their homes and their families.

It is lamentable, indeed, that at the time when millions of the citizens of the most civilised countries have for the last four years been fighting for the freedom of nations and for civilisation, at a time when the blood of all liberal nations has been poured out in streams, that we, the inhabitants of the Dodecanese — the most sincere of all the Greeks — are not only precluded from fighting by the side of the Allies for liberty and civilisation, but are forbidden even to feed and support ourselves or in any way assist our people, and that those inhabitants who are absent from their native country are not allowed to return to the Dodecanese.

We will not describe to Your Excellency all the insults, unjust imprisonments, humiliations and acts of cruelty which occur daily in the Dodecanese, the victims being not merely the leading citizens, not only women and children, but also priests, representatives of the bishops and bishops themselves. You are yourself but too well acquainted with the particulars.

In conclusion we have the honour to submit to your Excellency detailed lists :

a) Of all the persons who have died of famine in the Dodecanese, with their names and surnames, ages and the date of their decease.

b) Of the persons expelled by the Italians from the Dodecanese; of all the citizens of the Dodecanese who are not allowed to return to their country, and of all the refugees from the islands, amounting to tens of thousands of persons, who have been compelled to leave the Dodecanese to escape famine and the terrible tyranny of the Italians. In all these lists we have given not merely the name and surname of each person who has died of starvation, has been expelled or has left the islands; we have given not merely his age, occupation, date of death or expulsion from the Dodecanese, but also in the case of those still alive the name of the locality and street where they are now residing, with house-number, so that the correctness of our statements may be immediately and easily verified.

We therefore solicit Your Excellency's immediate intervention and assistance, and remain,

Your most humble and obedient servants,

The Treasurer,
Pâris J. Roussos.

The President,
Dr. Skevos Zervos.

The General Secretary,
G. Oeconomou.

THE LEAGUE OF THE DODECANESIANS.

Athens, 4th August, 1918.

To His Excellency, NICOLAOS POLITIS,

Minister of Foreign Affairs.

ATHENS.

Your Excellency,

The League of the Dodecanesians being unable, owing to the Press censorship, to refute categorically and indignantly the contents of an article in to-day's issue of the "Patris" stating that "Contrary to the reports that have been circulated for some time past relative to the food question in the Dodecanese, the position in those islands from the point of view of the importation of food-stuffs is quite encouraging etc." we have the honour to report to you that this is a malevolent inexactitude published with the purpose of completely crushing the Dodecanese.

The famine in the Dodecanese, your Excellency, has been now raging for many months, to such an extent that not only do deaths occur from starvation, but even pregnant women are driven to suicide, throwing themselves into the sea, as was the case with Maria Lazari of Calymnos.

To prove our statement we have the honour to submit herewith an exact list of names with the dates and full details of each of these deplorable suicides.

The famine-stricken fugitives from the Dodecanese are so dejected and exhausted that they appear shadows rather than living human beings.

The condition of the Dodecanese is critical and desperate. Anyone visiting the islands would see all the prisons full of women, whose only crime is to have complained that their children were starving; he would be confronted with a people who for many months past have been faced with the frightful alternative either of dying from famine in their homes, near the graves of their children and parents, or of abandoning what is dearest to them, after God, their country.

The famine especially, but also the oppressions, persecutions, imprisonments and continual extirpation of everything held by them to be sacred and moral, have compelled the inhabitants of the Dodecanese to leave their country by thousands, and to seek shelter and hospitality as refugees on the coasts of liberated

Greece, at Paros, Naxos, Amorgos, Myconos, Euboea, Crete, at Salonica and even at Piraeus.

An exact list enclosed contains their names, surnames, profession or trade, their ages and also the date of their arrival and the names of the streets where they are staying, so that you and the representatives of the Allied Nations can verify the same.

This exodus from the Dodecanese caused by famine, has left the islands nearly destitute of inhabitants; two-thirds have died from hunger or privation, or have abandoned the country and taken refuge in liberated Greece. Owing to this, the island of Calymnos which originally had a population of 26,000 inhabitants, when first occupied by the Italians, at the last census, taken for the purpose of issuing ration books, had only 8,312 inhabitants. The island of Leros which originally had 8,000 inhabitants, now contains only about 2,500. The same desolation is apparent in all the Dodecanese.

If your Excellency would ask the first inhabitant from the Dodecanese, man, woman or child, who may be met in the streets of Athens or Piraeus, or in the islands where the refugees are to be found by the thousands, a list of whom we enclose herewith), you would hear at once the frightful truth in all its details from their embittered and suffering lips.

But can we not prove to you better the whole sinister and martyred condition of the Dodecanese, by visiting with a commission specially appointed for the purpose, and examining any travellers arriving from the islands? The Commission will see the sinister spectre of famine in their dejected, exhausted, hungry and swollen faces. Most of them, will be dreadful to behold, emaciated, mere skeletons, others will be nearly dead, whilst others will be in a state of collapse, unable to rise, or if able to rise, suffering from dizziness, faintness, and every other symptom of the most horrible starvation.

We are at your Excellency's disposal to furnish you with full information in order that you may ascertain and verify the truth as to the dreadful and martyred condition of the Dodecanese. We have the honour to remain with profound respect,

Your Excellency's most humble servants,

The President
Dr. Skevos Zervos.

The Treasurer
Pâris J. Roussos

The General Secretary
G. Oeconomos.

THE LEAGUE OF THE DODECANESIANS.

Athens, 14th August, 1918.

To His Excellency,

The Greek Minister for Foreign Affairs,

En Ville (local)

Your Excellency,

We have the honour herewith to bring to your knowledge that the condition of the Dodecanese continues to be extremely grave. At the present moment we refrain from again dwelling upon the totally inadequate food-supplies of the islands, or upon the choice between expatriation and death to which the Dodecanesians are constrained by hunger. We will not, moreover, again describe to your Excellency how the prisons of the Dodecanese are filled with men and women incarcerated for having said that they could no longer withstand starvation, that they were on the point of death, that their parents and children had already succumbed to want of bread or other food. These facts are fully known to your Excellency in all their tragic detail.

We would, however, inform you, that for some time past the Carabinieri have been presenting from house to house blank sheets of paper, on which the inhabitants are invited and compelled to inscribe their signatures, without knowing to what end they are so pertinaciously coerced into performing this act. Furthermore the mayors, notables, episcopal administrators, and priests of the Dodecanese, having been invited to banquets by the Italian Authorities, have been compelled, at the close of these repasts, to subscribe addresses of thanksgiving and felicitations to Italy.

Finally, only a few days ago, the Italian Government opened Italian night-schools in all the islands for teaching Italian, which is there entirely unknown, and at the same time published a Royal Decree constituting Italian the official language of the Dodecanese. An Italian sub-lieutenant was appointed director of the schools and the scholars were rigorously forbidden between lessons to use Greek, that is to use the one and only language of the Dodecanesians, the language which they have spoken exclusively since the history of Man has been recorded.

With the most profound respect,

We remain, Your Excellency's humble servants,

The President,
Dr. Skevos Zervos,

The Treasurer,
Pâris J. Roussos.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE INHABITANTS OF THE DODECANESE.

To His Excellency, Mr. WOODROW WILSON,

President of the United-States.

Your Excellency,

We, the undersigned, have the honour of submitting to your attention the WHITE BOOK of the Dodecanese.

Your Excellency will see in the simple and unequivocal plebiscites of the Dodecanesians, our eternal national aspirations and our desire of liberty and of union with Greece, our Mother Country, of which we form an integral part since time immemorial.

We, the Dodecanesians, have constantly in mind your immortal messages wherein you proclaimed to the whole world that the days of conquests and aggrandisements are now past. We, likewise, bear always in mind your principle that unless justice be done to others, it will not be done to us, and believe in our approaching deliverance.

The Dodecanese, your Excellency, is not a res nullius to be occupied or ceded at will. On the contrary, we, the Dodecanesians, have a highly developed national conscience and time-honoured traditions and culture. Our old history bears witness to the services rendered to humanity by these twelve islands with their philosophers, physicians, historians, poets, astronomers and evangelists.

Before resorting to any violent means in view of our national restoration, we confidently appeal to Your Excellency, the champion of the freedom of the peoples, requesting of you to kindly see that our freedom and our union with Greece is secured.

We remain, Your Excellency's most obedient servants,

Dr. Skevos Zervos,

Dr. Skevos Zervos et Pâris Roussos,

Représentants du Dodécanèse,

18, Old Burlington Street, LONDON.

Le Comité Central des Dodécanésiens représentant de plusieurs milliers des originaires du Dodécanèse résidant en Egypte vous donne mandat et pouvoir de le représenter devant la Conférence de Paris et partout où besoin sera et de proclamer la volonté ferme de tous les Dodécanésiens de s'unir à la Grèce. Les aspirations de nos compatriotes ont été à plusieurs reprises exposées auprès les puissances alliées et récemment par la résolution votée le premier Décembre par Assemblée générale Dodécanésiens Egypte interprétant les sentiments de tous les habitants des îles et au Président Vénizélos. Les assemblées encore des Dodécanésiens tenues à Port-Saïd, Ismailiéh, Suez et Caire en Janvier par un vote remis aux représentants des Puissances alliées ont affirmé que les habitants des îles n'accepteront aucune autre solution que celle de leur union avec la Grèce étant décidés en cas contraire de s'opposer par tous les moyens dont un peuple opprimé et désespéré peut disposer.

To His Excellency, PRESIDENT WILSON,

PARIS.

Your Excellency,

We have the honour to notify your Excellency that a mass meeting of the entire Dodecanese on Nov. 8th/22nd, 1918, passed, yet once more, a resolution voicing the one desire, the secular longing of the islands for union with their mother-country Greece, and we are requested by a telegram received to-day, to acquaint your Excellency with this fact.

In pursuance of this duty laid upon us by our country, we have the honour to inform your Excellency, that, contrary to all law human or divine, the Dodecanesians are still subjected to intolerable oppression and persecution, and that there has been no relaxation of the terrible and sinister blockade of the islands, so that the dearth of food-stuffs is extreme, deaths from starvation are many, medicaments are unobtainable, and influenza is raging and taking appalling toll of the population. To your Excellency, the President of the United States of America, as representing the justice and freedom of the world, we protest with all our hearts; we protest against this inhumanity, against this unparalleled tyranny which aims at annihilating the noble people of the Dodecanese, who look to you to secure them justice and liberty.

We respectfully beg your Excellency to be good enough to intervene energetically and we remain with profound respect,
